

LIONS' SKATE MEET DRAWS LARGE CROWD IN NEW LENOX

Mokena School News

First Grade

Christmas in first grade was greatly anticipated. Each of us made a wreath for a window. We filled our stockings and hung them on a fireplace we improvised. We made each mama a paper plate plaque and each daddy a snow man calendar. We made ornaments for the school tree out of coffee can covers, Christmas cards, spoons, Christmas rope, construction paper and cotton. Everyone of us enjoyed our room tree. We sat around it and sang Christmas carols and read Christmas stories. The climax came when we appeared in costume as Christmas puddings and sang in the operetta, "The Magic Bell."

We are through with our preprimers and are now reading "Fun with Dick and Jane." The stories are longer and we are enjoying them. Last Friday we played "Who, What and Where" with the pictures chosen by each child who was able to read the page number chosen.

One of our number projects was making a January calendar and putting the numbers in the proper places. We can play a game now using flashcards on which are written the simplest addition combinations.

Some of us wrote our first letter and that was to a former member of our class, Martin Denlinger who now lives in Ohio.

Our latest project was a train which runs along one side of our room. Each child made an engine, coal car or other car. We hope to make a successful trip through 1952—Minnie L. Pester.

Second Grade

We have been studying about winter birds in science class. We know that the birds have great difficulty in obtaining food when the ground is covered with ice and snow, and are putting out seeds, apple cores, suet and crumbs of bread so the birds will not go hungry.

In our language class we are reading poems. Some children have brought books of poems from home and have read the most interesting ones to the class. We are writing original poems about the snow and are drawing pictures to illustrate them.

We had an exhibit of dolls and other toys after returning to school from our vacation. Each article was labeled, and the owners name was also placed on it. A beautiful gingerbread scene taken from the story of Hansel and Gretel was also on exhibition. Nancy Pauling's mother designed and brought it to our room for us to enjoy. The children from the other rooms came to see our exhibit.

Third-Fourth Grade

Now that Wayne Eggert has come to our school there are 32 girls and boys in our room.

To give boys and girls an outlet for free self-expression we are alloting one bulletin board for miscellaneous drawings and handwork. So far we have winter scenes, an Indian chief, interior of a bedroom using good perspective for this grade, and a child's idea of an ocean liner. Since many children received water colors and poster paints as Christmas gifts, all who wish may now use these mediae for self-expression.

McVey Told Teachers to Purge Profession Of False Prophets and Guard Our Freedom

In a stirring address at the annual dinner of the Illinois Education Association at the Sherman hotel, Chicago, recently, Congressman William McVey (R. 4th Ill. dist.) who is recognized throughout the country as an outstanding leader in the field of education, appealed to his hearers "to put our own house in order" in the face of charges that "teachers are showing disrespect for the constitution, our free enterprise system and our American way of life."

Paying a glowing tribute to the loyalty of the great majority of them in the teaching profession, the Congressman said, "But there are those who, because of gullibility, lack of understanding or a real desire to undermine the structure of our government, are speaking and conducting themselves in a fashion that is bringing our profession into disfavor in the minds of large sections of our public."

Outlining the principal charges of subversive teaching being made in the Congress and some of the evidence being offered in support of them, he pointed out to his fellow-teachers, "herein is a challenge to all of us to put our house in order and purge our profession of false prophets who, with little or no experience in practical government, pretend to have the answer to all the problems of our democracy."

The annual ice-skating meet sponsored by the New Lenox Lions drew a crowd of about 200 to the Ceward Batson pasture Sunday afternoon. A big roaring fire and hot dogs with coffee and pop added cheer to the occasion.

Trophies and awards donated by the Lions went to the following skaters, Hal Kammerer and John Anderson, boys under seven; Robert Wondrasek and Michael Merfeld, boys ten or younger; Lois Wondrasek and Carol Ruthenbeck, girls, ten or younger; John Huttenhoff and Jim Anderson, boys 11-13; Sharon Hutchins and Edwardine Washner, girls 11-13.

VILLAGE BOARD GETS AUDITOR'S REPORT ON TREASURER'S BOOKS

Delinquent Water Users Given 10 Days; Specify Parking in Business Section

Wed in Frankfort Church, Dec. 29

With a double ring ceremony held in St. Peter's Evangelical and Reformed church, Frankfort, Miss Shirley Weichbrodt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Weichbrodt, of Frankfort, and Lester Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Peters, 15805 Vine street, Harvey, were united in marriage Saturday evening, December 29, at 7 o'clock. The Rev. Erich Bizer officiated. The church was decorated with two Christmas trees and lighted with candles. Scherrill Weichbrodt, brother of the bride, sang "O Perfect Love," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gowned in Chantilly lace over satin. Her bouquet was a cascade of carnations tied with white satin ribbons. Her attendants, Mrs. Paul Kipley, matron of honor and Mrs. Charles Richards, wore forest green velvet floor length dresses. They carried cascade bouquets made of red and white carnations tied with white satin ribbons. Sheryl Peters, the junior bridesmaid and Mary Sue Krusemark, the flower girl, wore matching Burgundy dresses. Little Miss Peters had a cascade bouquet of green and white carnations and the little flower girl scattered rose petals.

The best man, Harold Van Milligan, and Grovenor Weichbrodt, attended the bridegroom. The ushers were Harry and William Berberian. Mrs. Weichbrodt and Mrs. Peters were dressed in navy blue with white hats and accessories. Both had corsages of talisman roses. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. John Buch, wore black matching accessories, and a corsage of red roses.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony. The couple went south for a wedding trip. On their return they will reside at 15147 Marshfield avenue in Harvey.

The bride is a graduate of Joliet Township High school and Junior college and the Wesley Hospital School of Nursing. She is employed as a nurse at the English Sheppard company of Harvey. ### Churches Work on 'Oldsters' Problems

"What can our church do for the older person," will be the underlying concern of the second annual conference on "The Church and the Older Person" to be held Tuesday, January 15, at the Hamilton hotel, 20 South Dearborn street, according to Virgil E. Lowder, executive secretary of the Department of Social Service of The Church Federation of Greater Chicago.

More than 200 ministers, directors of adult activities, church school leaders, welfare agency spokesmen and leaders of senior groups in churches and neighborhood houses will attend. The conference will last from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m.

Among the challenging topics will be "how some churches are serving older persons," "tasks 'oldsters' are performing well," and what community resources are available to them. Specific examples will be given by the Rev. Adolph Bohn, minister, Edgewater Presbyterian church, the Rev. M. W. Clair, Jr., St. Mark Methodist church, the Rev. Roland W. Schloerb, Hyde Park Baptist church all in Chicago.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Talmadge of Tinley Park announce the engagement of their daughter Sharon, to Norman Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bernard of Mokena.

At the village board meeting Tuesday night in Mokena, decision was made to advertise for bids for a new pump for the village water supply. A representative from the J. P. Miller company of Brookfield was present and spoke on the matter.

The new law was explained which requires vehicle tax money to be kept in a separate fund, 15% of which is to be used for police protection and the balance for street improvements.

The board stated that another notice of 10 days would be sent to delinquent water users and if not paid at that time, they would absolutely be shut off from village water service.

More complaints were registered of cars being parked continuously on the narrow streets of Third and Midland. It was brought out that owners of cars living on these streets have driveways in which to park their cars. It was brought out that passing parked cars on these streets was a problem making it impossible to pass if cars were coming in opposite direction.

Signs will be erected against double parking and diagonal parking on Front street in the business section. It is impossible to pass with cars or trucks when double and diagonal parking is in effect.

Berie Needham was present and requested the passing of a resolution giving the right to the Mokena Methodist church to use adjoining land on which to build an addition to the present church building. The addition asked would be 40 feet east and 30 feet north. The resolution was passed.

It was brought out that the original owner of this piece of property stipulated, when giving it to the village, that the south half can be used for church purposes only, and the north half for public buildings. Fred Lehmann, Scout committee man, was present in behalf of the question of building a Scout cabin in the north half.

Winton Hamilton brought up the question of sidewalk ordinance in the village with the view of building sidewalks in new sections. In reviewing the old sidewalk ordinance, the cinder foundation was specified and it was recalled that in former years when certain sidewalks were surveyed, it was alleged that some property owners, under cover of darkness, placed the surveyors' stakes out of sight, thus showing why some sidewalks are lower than property and streets and are flooded during rains, etc. Mayor Spiess told Mr. Hamilton to get a surveyor's opinion on the subject.

George Bennet was present and submitted his bills for the village maintenance work. Kenneth Sherwood was also present as well as a representative of the Public Service company.

Trustee Russell Anderson read the report of the auditing of the village treasurer's books and made three resolutions as follows:

1. That the accounting system be corrected as recommended by the auditors.—Passed.
2. To have the village board inquire into the legality of arrangements made previously of some water main extensions.—Passed.
3. That this auditor's report be published in the local newspaper.—Passed.

The Auditors were the firm of Bansley & Kiener in Chicago.

Among bills allowed were those of Blaine Saxton and Yunkers for removing snow in the village amounting to $124. Saxton's bill was $20 for November and $80 for December; Yunkers' was $24 for December.

MINE DISASTER DONATIONS SENT IN ERROR TO FRANKFORT MAYOR

ROY CARLSEN COMING HOME

Word was received by the parents of Pfc. Roy H. Carlsen, 213 Lincoln street, Joliet, that he is scheduled to arrive at Seattle with a large group of servicemen coming in on two transports.

The Carlsens were residents of Mokena, previous to their moving to Joliet.

Several donations of money for the benefit of miners' families of West Frankfort have been received by Mayor George Sangmeister of Frankfort. The mistake is due to the confusion caused by the similarity in the names of the towns.

Mr. Sangmeister has written to the mayor of the town hit by the mine disaster and received instructions to forward the money to his office where it will be accepted and taken care of for the bereaved families.

How Tinley Park Removed Snow in the Village

Scene in Tinley Park as townspeople began the job of digging the town out of the worst snow fall since 1924. More than thirty three inches of snow crippled highway travel and slowed rail movement. Businessmen gave the task of hauling surplus snow to the Brandau Cartage Company which removed more than twenty-five truck loads from the town's shopping area.

Bigger Corn Goals
Heighten Need For Plant Food in '52

WITH 1952 corn planting goals reported at 88 million acres, Midwestern farmers will be asked to produce big yields again next year, points out the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in a recent statement.

"Stocks of grain are reported shrinking in proportion to the number of farm animals to be fed," says the statement.

"Livestock feeders will need more grain to provide for increasing numbers of cattle. Farmers will be asked to boost feed production."

Agronomists report that yields of corn and small grain can be increased 50 to 100 per cent above the state averages in most areas by good soil management methods including the use of fertilizer.

These agronomists recommend using 300 to 400 pounds of fertilizer carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash at seeding time in the fall and then top-dressing with nitrogen the following spring. Adding a full feed of plant food is important where legume-grass seedings are to be made in the wheat.

Promptness in ordering fertilizer is particularly vital now in view of the raw materials situation. Shortages of superphosphate have already developed.

Farm Economists Call Fertilizer 'Cheapest Crop Production Item'

FERTILIZERS are still the "cheapest crop producer per dollar invested" among various production items the farmer buys, according to a recent statement by Michigan farm economists.

These specialists point out that efficient, high crop production per acre is the key to maintaining farm profits and keeping costs low. Fertilizer use is an essential factor in such a program.

A recent statement in Michigan Farm Economics, published by Michigan State College's department of agricultural economics, lists these steps for building efficient production per acre: (1) A good crop rotation that improves soil tilth and increases the organic matter supply; (2) Keeping output costs low by buying production items that are relatively cheap. Fertilizer is still the cheapest crop producer per dollar invested; (3) Putting the emphasis on cash crops that use more machinery and less hand labor.

However, no matter what we may do for a living, it is still true that saying "Yes" to Jesus means saying "No" and "Good-bye" to many other things. It means separation from all that is out of tune with him; separation from selfishness, from sin, from trash and trifles. It means separation from habits that enslave us, from "recreations" that do not re-create but tear down, from places and opportunities of temptation, from hatred and prejudice and pride.

If a man really means "Yes" to Jesus, he cannot mean "Yes" to what is opposite to Jesus. The Christian life is a separated life. It is not that he is separated from people. Isn't it likely that the fishermen who followed Christ had a far wider circle of friends as they went with him than they had ever had before? But they were being shaken loose from what had before seemed to them most important,—yes, even from themselves.

Service
BUT that is the negative side of it. The Christian life is not only "from" but it is "for." That is, just as these first fishermen followed Jesus in order to become fishers of men, so the Christian's yes-saying always means enlistment for service.

A Christian's sincerity cannot be measured in what he says, nor even in what he does not do; it is to be measured in what he does.

It is a serious and solemn question: Suppose this is your last day in life, and all the accounts are in. Looking back on what you have been and what you have done, has your life actually helped what Jesus Christ is undertaking in this world, or have you hindered him?

The Christian life is a surrendered, a separated life, but also a life of service. "Yes" can be said with the lips alone—that was Judas; a "Yes" to Christ can truly be said only with life itself.

Well Balanced Diet of All Plant Nutrients Gives Top Corn Production, Builds Up Land

Corn plants lodge badly and yields are cut when soil has too much nitrogen, not enough potash.

LOADING up the soil with one plant nutrient while neglecting the others is like filling the gas tank on your car and letting the engine run dry of oil.

Howard Lathrop, Purdue University agronomist, points out that it takes a balance of gasoline, oil and a good spark to run a car.

"And," he says, "it takes a good balance of nitrogen, phosphate and potash to make a good corn crop."

Overfeeding the soil nitrogen cut corn growth in tests on the Charles Schenck farm in Davies county, Indiana, Lathrop reports. Three plots of corn each received 100 pounds of phosphate and potash per acre. One plot had 8 pounds of nitrogen, a second had 108 pounds and the third, 208 pounds.

Tissue tests of corn on the 8 pound plot showed no nitrogen, but ample phosphate and potash. As the nitrogen applications went up, the potash levels in the corn plants went down, reducing growth. On the plot where 208 pounds of nitrogen was applied, there was just not enough potash in the fertilizer to balance it out. The lack of potash caused a lack of energy foods in the plant. The root systems of the high nitrogen corn lodged badly.

Lathrop says that to get high corn yields, you need a soil well stocked with nitrogen, phosphate and potash in balanced supply. You need plenty of active organic matter to build the soil's tilth. This can be added by well-fertilized deep-rooted legumes such as alfalfa and sweet clover in the rotation. Finally, you need plenty of reserve nutrients to feed the bacteria and fungi that rot organic matter, fight plant diseases and release nutrients.

Plant Food Can Help
Farmers Meet Call
For More Grain

THE call for bigger grain crops in 1952 emphasizes the need for farmers to order fertilizer supplies early, declared the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, in a recent statement.

A 'Yes' to Christ
Lesson for January 13, 1952

JESUS knew some distinguished people. But his first and most intimate friends were not of that kind. Christianity started at the grassroots of humanity. It did not start in the top branches. It is a good thing, too.

It is quite true that Christianity has depths and heights to which most Christians do not attain. A St. Paul has not only mystic raptures but intellectual penetration which comparatively few Christians have shared or can share; he was a genius, and most of us are not geniuses.

But in Jesus' first group of companions there was no St. Paul. They were the plainest of plain people. The first of them were fishermen. They were not used to lectures; it is extremely doubtful whether any one of them would have understood the Epistle to the Ephesians if it had been read to them. But they understood Jesus . . . at least they understood what he said. He said, "Follow me;" and they followed him. It was as simple as that.

What do I want most? is not a Christian question. Rather it should be, What does Christ want most?

Surrender
THAT is what Christianity is, at its heart: saying Yes to Jesus. When those fishermen said their "Yes" it meant three things, and those three are always involved whenever any one sincerely begins the Christian life. For this was only the beginning, of course. There was a long road ahead, much they would have to learn and do and suffer; but even the longest road has its beginning. And the Christian's road begins with this first "Yes."

First of all, it means surrender. They took him for their leader, they absorbed his teaching, they obeyed his orders. There is a Christian hymn, "My Jesus, as Thou wilt"; one hears it most often at funerals, but it is not intended as a funeral hymn. It could well be the hymn sung when young people are confirmed or join the church; it could well be the every-morning song of every real Christian.

What do I want most? is not a Christian question. Rather it should be, What does Christ want most?

Separation
AGAIN, those fishermen's "Yes" meant separation. They left their nets, their old occupation. We must not read too much into this, as if in order to be a Christian one must leave his wage-earning business, whatever it is. On the contrary, the best place to be a Christian may be right where we are.

However, no matter what we may do for a living, it is still true that saying "Yes" to Jesus means saying "No" and "Good-bye" to many other things. ## Sold Down the River

President Truman ushered out the Old Year with a cry that he has been "sold down the river".

This is a strange complaint in the light of the record. Mr. Truman was not disturbed by scandals in 1945—he began issuing pardons to former fellow workers in the Pendergast machine before he had been in office a month.

In 1946, Mr. Truman didn't feel he had been "sold down the river" by Harry Vaughan and John F. Maragon in their perfume and molasses deals.

The President slept soundly (two blocks away) when thugs blew open the vault of the Jackson County, Mo., courthouse making off with fraudulent votes which presumably could have jailed some 71 Missouri Democrats then under indictment. This was 1947.

All was serene with the President in 1948 when Charles Binnagio, the late Kansas City gangster, began raising a $150,000 campaign fund from his racketeer cronies in behalf of the President and the Democrat candidate for Governor.

The first of the RFC scandals came to light in 1950, implicating the E. Merle Youngs of mink coat notoriety, as well as Donald Dawson, Mr. Truman's personnel adviser. Mr. Truman thought the fuss over this was "asinine."

In 1950, the Kefauver Committee revealed the link between Chicago politicians and the underworld; National Democrat Chairman William Boyle's introduction was used in an attempt to work an RFC deal for a group with criminal records. No word from Mr. Truman.

The lid blew off in 1951, and is going higher and higher in 1952. The President now finds his house crashing down about his ears, and cries: "Wrongdoers have no house with me."

Mr. Truman discovers—quite suddenly in election year 1952—that he is being sold down the river. A real piece of timing.

After seven sordid years of corruption, the President is "concerned to the point of being angry," his associates say. So far his anger has been vented only upon the press which publicized the rot within the Administration, and against the Congressional Committees bringing it to light.

If President Truman thinks he has been sold down the river—what do the American people think has happened to them?

They will give Mr. Truman their answer when they go to the polls this year.—From the "Political Front".

Even though the catfish is no "glamour puss," he stacks up as being one of the most widespread and popular of fresh water dwellers. Wherever you travel, from East to West and from North to South, you'll run into him, or one of his many satchel-mouth relatives, in large quantities. And he is nearly always obliging about gulping in your baited hook.

In some areas where streams are murky most of the time, the catfish provides the only action with rod and reel, or cane pole, that is available. Old Hi has bumped into these bewhiskered fellows in Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, the Carolinas, New York, New England and in other regions where he has wet a line. Catch a mess of the medium-sized cats, skin 'em, and fry 'em over a wood fire by the river bank or lake shore if you want a tasty snack!

You can get some real sport out of catfish, too, if you go about it in the right manner. Take the channel cat, for instance. There's a lively, playful fish in the currents of clean streams, and if you'll let him tussle against a springy bamboo president bait rod, limber tubular steel casting rod five and one-half or six feet long, or an eight-foot steel or glass fly rod you can expect plenty of action.

The channel cat likes minnows, crabs, worms, dough balls, grasshoppers and bugs but occasionally he'll grab a streamer fly, small spinner, hair bug, or feather minnow. So he's worth your special attention with a fly rod.

Send your lure to the foot of rifles or falls, twitch it slowly, and set the hook firmly when a catfish clamps his ample mouth shut. Play him in the quieter reaches, until at length he is ready to call it quits.

In Old Hi's booklet "Fishing For The Millions" you'll find many tips for taking catfish. A free copy will be yours by addressing a request to me in care of this newspaper. You'll learn how to get better sport from catfish on light tackle, rather than using only the long cane pole. You'll also learn how to cope with the huge mud catfish, like the 52-pounder caught in Santa Fe Lake near Shawnee, Oklahoma.

Many of Old Hi's readers living along the Atlantic, Gulf of Mexico, and Pacific Coasts have asked what size hooks to use for various kinds of inshore bottom feeding fish. This question is answered for each species in the booklets "Salt Water Sports Fishing" and "Pacific Coastal Fishing," and you may have free copies by sending penny postcard requests to this newspaper. The latter booklet is a good one to catch the different species.

CHAMP AUTO RACER

CHICAGO — Tony Bettenhausen, 1951 American Automobile Association dirt track champion, received the "Champion Sportsman of the Month" award from Robert Strana-han Jr., vice president of Champion Spark Plug Co., Toledo, Ohio, at the Tony Bettenhausen Victory dinner here. Tony, known as the Tinley Park Express, shattered dirt track records throughout the country this year to establish a record of eight triumphs and two seconds in 15 races. He joins such notables as Lee Wallard, winner of the 1951
Indianapolis 500 mile race, Golfer
Ben Hogan, Connie Mack, Doak
Walker and other American champions who have received the Champion award in recognition of their skill and sportsmanship.

Fall Pasture Crops Help Stretch Grazing Season, Cut Feed Cost

RYE, winter wheat and other winter small grains can help you stretch the pasture season this year, give your beef and dairy cattle extra grazing days and cut down costly feed bills.

These special fall crops should be planted early enough to produce good growth, says the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee. They should be planted in grain fields not seeded to legume-grass mixtures.

Adding fertilizer with the seed will get the rye up fast, give you good pasture during the fall and help the crop survive severe weather this winter. Agronomists recommend using a complete fertilizer carrying nitrogen, phosphate and potash at seeding time.

The Middle West Soil Improvement Committee suggests two other steps for making pasture pay maximum returns this fall:

1—Topdress and graze permanent pastures with a complete fertilizer to give fast recovery after the summer heat.

2—Add plant nutrients and graze old meadows that will be plowed for corn next spring.

A topdressing in the spring of nitrogen or of a nitrogen, phosphate and potash fertilizer will spur the growth of pasture grasses and legumes. It will enable you to get cattle out on the fields earlier and reduce expenses of barn feeding.

Cook Forest Preserve Plant Second Crop Of Corn This Year Raise & Improvem'ts In Florida

(CNS) --The Cook County Forest Preserve District Thursday approved its budget for the new year.

The budget of $4,868,575 is $154,123 higher than last year's. Of the new budget, $4,206,885 is from taxes and $601,640 is from other sources and of last year's $4,157,727 was from taxes and $496,680 was from other sources.

The new budget provides for ten per cent raises for 500 forest preserve district employees. Rangers will get pay raise in excess of ten per cent to bring them up to the pay of Chicago policemen.

The new budget, however provides for less appropriations for construction projects; last year's appropriation for construction projects as $454,632, while this year's will be $436,000.

Traffic Safety Series Starts Next Week

Beginning next week, this newspaper will present a brief item once each week on traffic safety, directed to both motorists and pedestrians.

These articles, under the heading "Tips on Traffic Safety," have been prepared by Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett in an effort to help both motorists and pedestrians do their part to reduce the useless waste of lives and destruction of property caused by traffic accidents.

Secretary Barrett, who administers all motor vehicle licensing and driver licensing, pointed out that each motorist has stated under oath on his application for driver license that he knows and understands the Illinois traffic laws. These articles, Mr. Barrett said, are designed to help motorists and pedestrians make those laws more effective.

The death toll on streets and highways has reached approximately one million for the nation. The extent of injuries and the amount of damage to property could hardly even be estimated.

In Illinois alone, there were 1,968 persons killed during 1950 as a result of motor accidents, and it is expected the 1951 total will be higher when the statistics are completely tabulated.

The danger is particularly high at this time of the year, when drivers and pedestrians have snow and ice to contend with in addition to all the other hazards that are present the rest of the year.

"Safety laws and rules can be made and enforced, but basically traffic safety is the business of every driver and pedestrian," Secretary Barrett said. "Without their cooperation, nothing can be accomplished; with their cooperation, this terrible toll can be substantially reduced."

University of Illinois plant breeders this week planted the second crop of corn this year—this one in Florida—in their "double-time" program to develop male sterile inbreds and thereby eliminate the multi-million-dollar job of detasseling seed corn.

Corn breeder L. F. Bauman says some 5,000 plants will be grown on about one acre on an island in Lake Okeechobee, nearly 1,000 miles south of Chicago. The planting includes four lines of "KYS" male sterile corn, some from Texas, and a male sterile line of WF9 developed by Bauman. There will be a one-third-acre seed increase plot of the WF9 line for possible commercial use.

The goal of this work is to add the characteristic of male sterility to standard inbreds. This would eliminate the need for detasseling all rows of female parent corn in hybrid seed corn fields. If and when this is done successfully, it should save Illinois seed growers alone about $2 million a year in cost of detasseling. In the whole country, those costs are estimated at about $10 million yearly.

Bauman emphasizes that it appears entirely possible from present knowledge to convert standard inbreds to male sterility. Scientists are testing this theory in actual field trials.

Two crops of corn a year are possible by growing some during the winter in Florida. So twice as much progress can be made in one year toward adding male sterility to inbreds. Normally this job would take 6-8 years, but with this speed-up the time should be considerably decreased.

Bauman explains that adding male sterility probably will not boost yield or improve the resulting hybrid in other ways. And the cost of hybrid seed to the farmer will probably drop only a little. Elimination of detasseling should reduce seed cost only an estimated 75 cents or so per bushel. Since a bushel plants about 8 acres, that's a saving of only about 10 cents an acre in seed cost.

The Illinois Seed Producers association is supporting the work in Florida and testing some of its own single crosses.

Laboratory Finds Livestock Diseases

More than 5,000 animals ranging from mice to horses were examined by the diagnostic laboratory of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine from June 1950 to June 1951.

In making this report today, Dr. P. D. Beamer, who heads the laboratory, says the examinations were performed on chickens, swine, turkeys, cattle, sheep and 26 other kinds of wild and domestic animals.

The diagnostic laboratory has two aims: to identify the diseases occurring in Illinois' domestic animals and wildlife and to use all the disease specimens for teaching veterinary students.

In addition to the examination of the tissues of animals, the laboratory examined nearly 80,000 specimens, the majority of which were blood samples of turkeys, swine and cattle to be tested for disease.

Dr. Beamer says the specimens and animals for examination are sent in from owners and veterinarians all over the state.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

It's Slim's For An "Honest" Meal

Most people thought Slim Benson would probably go broke when he first started his system of letting customers figure out their own checks over at his big diner on the highway.

Slim trusts them to pay for as much as they eat—you simply tell Sally, his cashier, the amount of your bill. It works, too. Take the other day when Buck Harris told Sally his bill was 35¢.

Now I was right there with Buck and I knew all he had was coffee and pie which comes to a quarter. "How come thirty-five cents?" I asked Buck. "Had an extra cup of java the other day, Joe, and forgot all about it—'til now," he says.

From where I sit, most people are basically honest—and that goes for their opinions, too, even though they may be different than our own. I like a glass of beer with my dinner; you may prefer something else... but we all ought to be allowed to "figure it out" ourselves.

Farm Calendar Sent To Two Million

The Minneapolis-Moline implement company is distributing through its dealers in the United States and Canada, and in many foreign countries, an interesting calendar. The company states there are over two million of them being given by the dealers to their clients and friends.

The cover page is a tribute, in color, to the Farmer-Sportsman cooperation and conservation and shows friends from the city hunting with the farmer's sons, after obtaining permission to hunt. It is titled, "Farmer-Sportsman Cooperation Benefits All."

The calendar also serves as a catalog with illustrations of modern farm machinery manufactured by the company and includes features on soil conservation and safety.

Farm homes in the Mokena community will receive their copy in the mail from the Swanberg Farm and Auto Service company where extra copies are also available.

Illinois Farmers Get Four-to-One Return on Crops by Increasing Use of Fertilizer

FERTILIZER use on Illinois farms totaled 577,704 tons in 1950, according to a statement by the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, based on statistics compiled by the National Fertilizer Association. This was an increase of 180,929 tons compared with 1949.

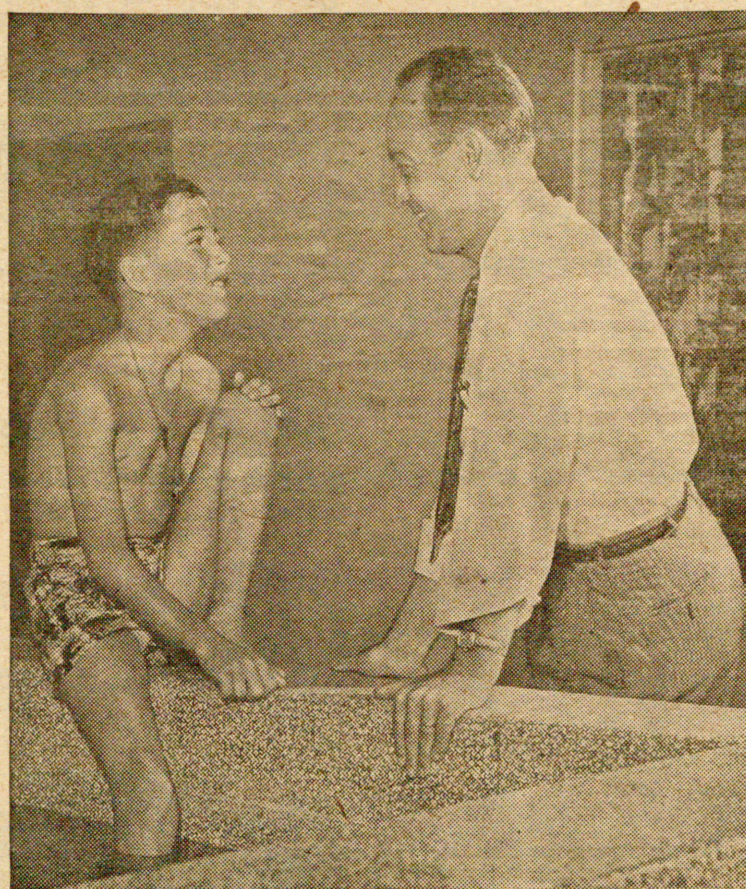

Corn Belt farmers have increased their fertilizer use by 4,170,920 tons in the past decade, the figures show. Ten Midwestern states used 5,215,392 tons of plant food last year, compared with 1,044,472 tons in 1939. Illinois' 1950 fertilizer consumption was more than 12 times greater than in 1939, when only 40,756 tons were used, the figures show.

For the entire United States, 1950 fertilizer consumption was 18,346,132 tons, an increase of 1.9 million tons over 1949. The 1950 total was 10,539,054 tons greater than in 1939 and 16,146,132 tons above the 1900 level. One-fourth of all crop production is now attributable to the use of fertilizer, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Since the value of all crops produced in 1950 was $12.3 billion, U. S. farmers received $3 billion additional income from the $744 million they invested in fertilizer last year. Each dollar spent for plant food in 1950 returned $4.13 in additional income from crops.

Statistics show that the tremendous increases in crop yields in the past 50 years have corresponded to the steadily growing use of fertilizer. Half a century ago, one farm worker, using little fertilizer produced food enough for himself and 5 other persons. Last year, his grandson, using 7 times as much fertilizer, supplied the crops needed for his own use and 14 additional persons.

How'm I Doing, Dad?

This time last year, ten-year-old Charles Andrews, Jr., of Ojai, Cal., had barely survived a life-or-death battle with bulbar polio. Now, his recovery has progressed to such an extent that he can show off in the pool for his father. He is shown with his dad who has become a March of Dimes chairman—and has written a book to help other parents of polio patients, entitled, "Nothing Else to Fear."

DO THE JOB Right FROM THE BEGINNING

with MOLINE-MONITOR FLUTED FEED DRILLS

... with single or double disc openers

Progressive farmers in this area rely on Moline-Monitor drills with fluted feed and double disc or single disc openers to sow crops accurately, at uniform depth with uniform covering and careful banding. The deep-cut fluted feeds prevent bridging and grinding of seed. Even trashy seed flows through evenly. An exclusive MM feature permits the operator to actually see the seed being delivered to the spouts. No special gates of any kind are needed on the quality MM Monitor Drills. The regular feeds with two speed drive handle everything from soybeans to flax.

Grain growers also prefer Moline-Monitor Drills because of their dependability and long-life, trouble-free operation. Typical of the better construction are the axle bearings which are extra large and completely enclosed in a self-aligning dustproof housing.
